The lemon balm and faint lime peel hints on the nose of this wine signal freshness. On the palate, they coalesce into zesty, vivid drive, making you want more of this crystal-clear freshness. Although light in body, it totally delivers on the aromatic refreshment front.

Domäne Wachau 2017 Liebenberg Federspiel Grüner Veltliner (Wachau)

This wine's closed nose reveals just a little hint of lemon for now. The palate is far more fluid, presenting juicy green pear flavors with intensely zesty lemon notes and subtle fern and moss suggestions. It's taut, slender and moreish, with a zesty, herbal finish.

Domäne Wachau 2017 Terrassen Federspiel Riesling (Wachau)

Orange peel flashes its aromatic headiness from the glass. The palate has that same citrus focus: zesty lemon blends in with riper rounder notions of mandarin, orange and tangerine. It's clean, zesty, tangy and wonderfully aromatic, as well as exquisitely light and dry.
